

Presentation

About half a century of surveys, research and practice in the field confirm and underline that the school library plays a strategic role in providing access to information, reading, knowledge, and has a positive impact on students' learning and outcomes.

In order to effectively promote reading and to educate pupils to use information in a competent way, there is a need for school libraries (with stable funding), which are professionally set up and managed. These school libraries must have qualified and well trained staff who can teach interdisciplinary information skills, and co-ordinate the use of information throughout the entire school.

The INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR

The Library: a Partner with the School in the Educational Process. Reflections, practices and perspectives, organised as part of the International School Library Day events programme (www.iasl-online.org/events/isld/), aims at presenting and discussing an update of the European vision of school librarianship, and reflecting on some examples of good practice (at an educational and organizational level) for school libraries in Europe, as also emerged within the ENSIL (www.ensil.eu). Issues for school librarians' professional development and for those who are interested in the learning process will also be discussed. This seminar focuses on giving to all participants a greater awareness of the crucial role of the school library with a lifelong learning perspective.
